

Environment and Ethics Officer REPORT

October

What I've done

Surveyed campus bins, to provide information to FXPlus to move forward with improvements in recycling options. Communicated with Vegan and Veggie Society and The Beach Clean Project, organising plans for future things to come! Met with Matt, Ben and Jamal at FXU to discuss plans for other parts of my manifesto and gathered information about the use of Fairtrade coffee beans, to figure out where best to advertise this.

What I'm doing

A member of the newly-formed Catering Liaison group, set up by Jamal, aiming to improve overall experience of all catering outlets across campuses by opening a communication pathway between students, FXU, FXPlus and the Universities. I am also contributing to the decision-making process for applications to the Green Fund. Currently, I'm considering more sustainable ways to deal with food waste across campus and funding that may be available to finance these plans.

Other

I will be attending the Student Eats Conference and the Student Sustainability Summit on the 7th and 8th of November at Coventry University, to network with other student union representatives and gather information and advice on best practice for sustainability on campus. There are currently no plans to revive the Resistance is Fertile farmstall as mentioned in my manifesto. However, do look out for Penryn Produce, a student project with a similar purpose coming to campus in November!
